Revolutionizing Patient Education: Do They Understand the Why?

Hannah W. Coffey, RDH, LLC

As a third-generation dental professional, Hannah Coffey's career in dentistry has spanned four decades.

She began as a certified dental assistant in the Boston area before becoming licensed to practice dental hygiene, which she did until 2011. Hannah then moved to several prominent administrative roles that rounded out her incredible background and gave her the confidence to launch into hygiene speaking, consulting, and upper-management levels of leadership.

Hannah offers dental teams an unusual blend of both the clinical and business-side of practices. She's been there and done that on both and now creates programs that generate efficiency, economies of scale, and a mastery of patient care that generates a higher level of loyalty and word-of-mouth reputation.
